HEAD CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Desires to Have Primary With out Delay.

Announces and Says He Knows of No
Opposition—Plan Is Debated By Economy.

CANDIDATE FOR CITY JAILER.

Hon. L. P. Head, representative from McCracken county in the state legislature, is in the city today arriving from Paducah at 9:30 o'clock, and announced his intention of being a candidate for re-election.

"I will be a candidate for re-election," he stated, "and will tomorrow write each member of the city and county committee asking that the office of representative be included with the other office to be filled by nomination this year. I want this done because it will be economical. There is but one county office to fill when the state elections are held, and if the nomination is made this year it will have the expense when the regular time for nominating comes around. This is the reason I am in Paducah today—to arrange if I can.

As to the possibility of opposition, I cannot say that I know of any so far. I have not heard of any opponents but presume there will be several out when the nomination time rolls around."

Mr. Head has made a good official and has worked hard for what he thought was right and for what the people wanted.

Mr. Head said that likely his opponents, if any, would base their claims upon the fact that he was a state official, and would be holding two positions. He said in this regard:

"I did what I believed best for the interests of Paducah as a member of the house of representatives, and stand solely upon my record. The fact that I am a servant of the state should have no bearing upon the matter. I must earn a living in some manner. What material difference does it make whether I am employed by the commonwealth or some private corporation? I am for Paducah; for a population of 50,000; and if I succeed myself shall tend my every effort to advance the material and moral interests of my constituency, which I am proud to have represented in the Kentucky general assembly."

"Though a workman, I have tried, and shall always endeavor, to be fair and impartial in my dealings with all interests. Paducah is my home. I am for my city, my country, my ward and my side of the street against the world."

Our City Jailer.

Officer Aaron Hurley announced today that he has definitely decided to run for the office of city jailer. He has been on the police force for years and is one of the best policemen in the city. The office is vacant next year.

He is not expected to recover. Scrambo is also wounded, a gash in the back preventing him from escaping capture. The police, although convinced that Scrambo did the shooting, expect to arrest three more men tonight.

Rockefeller expects to strike water enough to enable him to turn off the city water supply altogether. It is said John D.'s example will be followed by the owners of several other skyscrapers office buildings of the city.

REIGN OF ANARCHY.

Moscow District Terrorized by Unchecked Lawlessness.

Moscow, August 10.—A virtual reign of anarchy prevails in districts surrounding the city. The inhabitants are panic-stricken. Armed robbers infest the country and operate unchecked. Excesses of all kinds are committed. No one feels safe from attacks. Even churches are desecrated and pillaged.

By the consent of the people of Paducah, The Sun has the largest circulation in the city and county. The average for July was 4132 a day.

TO GET COMSTOCK

Is the Intention of the Artists Indignant Over His Acts.

New York, Aug. 10.—Anthony Comstock's license is in jeopardy. As a result of his raid at the Art Students' League a movement is on foot to make his vacation at Summit, N. J., a permanent one. President Arthur N. Filled, of the Art Students' League, had a long conference yesterday with Attorney E. C. Crowley, of No. 18 Wall street. A general campaign of retaliation was mapped out which is said to include a plan to assault Comstock through the state legislature in an effort to revoke the license of the Society for the Prevention of Vice.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA

Former Papal Secretary of State in Rome, August 10.—It is reported that the health of Cardinal Rampolla who was papal secretary of state, has broken down, and that there is little hope for his recovery. He is now president of the executive and administrative councils of the Holy See.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS THROWN OFF PONY

Miss Mary Morris Sustains a Fractured Arm.

Dog Snaps Pony's Nose and It Rears
on Its Hind Legs Spilling Girls.

RIDING DOUBLE ON BROADWAY

Little Miss Mary Morris, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. W. F. Morris, of 833 Madison street, sustained a compound fracture of the left arm, below the elbow, last evening early by falling from a pony. The accident was due to a dog which jumped at the pony's head and bit it on the nose.

Little Misses Mary Morris and Tillie Bauer were "riding double" on the pony. They were on Broadway between Ninth and Tenth streets when the dog crossed from the pavement and jumped at the pony. The pony rose on his hind legs and the two little girls were thrown off.

Mary Morris fell against the curbstone. Her companion escaped with slight bruises. They were picked up and Drs. J. R. Coleman and P. H. Stewart were called. After a temporary dressing the injured girl was taken home and the arm placed in a plaster cast.

Johnson has telegraphed for the Middlesboro militia and a special train was sent from here this afternoon.

SCHOOL WORK

IF METHODIST CHURCH IS GROWING STRAIGHT.

System of Lending Money to Young
Students Is Proving to Be a Great Success.

The Rev. T. J. Newell returned to the city yesterday and says that the prospects for the fall opening for all the schools of the Methodist church are good. Fourteen hundred dollars was loaned by the school board of the church without interest to young men, who haven't the means to pay their own way through school. At the end of four years they may either pay the money back or continue the loan at a nominal rate of interest. Thousands of young men now get college educations by this plan who never could have provided the means themselves.

CITIZENRY FATAL.

To Woman Who Looked Out Window
When She Heard Shots.

Chicago, August 10.—A quarrel between two teamsters today as to whom should have the right of way in the street was responsible for the death of Mrs. Anna Heowski, a domestic employed on the third floor of an apartment building half a block from the disturbance. A man fired a pistol. When Mrs. Heowski heard the noise she ran to a window and looked out. As she was leaning over the edge of the building one of the bullets struck her in the temple, killing her instantly.

NON-COMMITTAL IS OLLIE JAMES

First District Congressman
May or May Not Run.

He Says He Intends to Consult His Friends Before Finally Answering.

HIS NEW GUN-METAL SUIT

Louisville, August 10.—Ollie James arrived in town from London last night wearing his new English suit of gun-metal color with a verdigris effect.

James only smiles when asked about his prospective candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor. He declared this morning that he does not know whether he will be a candidate and that he has not been approached by anyone, representing Hickham or any other part of the state administration with a request to run, despite rumors that a delegation would wait upon him upon his arrival.

His friends had inferred from what he said before leaving for London that he would not be a candidate.

James said: "I am not in any manner committed either to run or not to run for governor. I have had requests from friends to make the race, but it will take more than mere assurance of my nomination to get me into the race. I did not read any home papers while I was away. I want an opportunity to confer with my friends from different parts of the state before making an announcement either way. Circumstances sometimes make it a man's duty to enter such race. Of course, no man would enter a race unless he has some prospects of winning and he ought to ascertain if his services are really needed."

WITH UMBRELLA

MRS. LLOYD DEFENDS HUSBAND
AGAINST HIS CRITICS.

Scene in Grand Stand at the Wallace
Park Ball Grounds Yesterday Afternoon.

If "Chief" Lloyd's playing in left garden for the Indians does not suit the fans in general, it suits one, Mrs. Lloyd, and this was clearly demonstrated at Wallace park yesterday afternoon when Lloyd was aided defended after making a bobble or two, which, it is said, were due to illness. When the grand-stand went after him after he misjudged a fly ball, Mrs. Lloyd took up his fight.

Mrs. Lloyd is an enthusiastic baseball fan. She attends all the games and roots with the remainder of the grand stand. She generally occupies a box in the middle section of the stand and was seated in the usual place yesterday. Lloyd misjudged the ball. The grand-stand began on him and the more the fans talked about the manager and his hobbies, the stronger did his wife defend him. It came to a point where she could restrain herself no longer and leaving the box she took a seat by the side of a young man who had been unfavorably critical of Lloyd's work. She warned him that any further attack on Lloyd and his playing would be resented with force, and she had an umbrella to back her up. It is said that the young man made no reply but went on watching the game. He continued his rooting, however and occasionally mentioned the manager.

After the game was called in the eighth inning the fans started to leave the grand stand. The young man arose and started down the steps to the bottom passage way. Mrs. Lloyd was standing behind him before he started, and it is said he made one more remark.

This was sufficient. Mrs. Lloyd's anger knew no bounds, and a resounding whack of the umbrella broke the stillness.

She had given him a strong dig with the "rain stick."

The young man paid no attention to the attack, however, and left the grand-stand.

Manager Lloyd heard of the matter. He had been misinformed of the young man's conduct and after he had thoroughly investigated did not attempt to molest the young man.

Laurel Young Frank Brown to His Death.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 10.—Owen Nesbit, the traveling man who shot and killed Frank Brown, a 19-year-old boy, Friday night at his West Knoxville home, was released from jail this afternoon, and with his wife and children has left town for an unknown destination. That young Brown was the victim of a woman's wiles is indicated by a note found in his clothing from Mrs. Nesbit, making an appointment with him. Mrs. Nesbit is a handsome woman of 32 years. She has two children—a boy of 10 and a girl of 6.

John George, the Illinois Central switchman, who was injured last week by being caught between the drawheads of his engine and a caboose, is walking about at the railroad hospital and will be able to resume work earlier than expected.

LESSON

GIVEN BY JUDGE PERYEAR
FAILED THIS TIME.

Ida Lloyd Charges That Charles Bryant Threatened Her With a Pistol.

Only two days out of a jail, where he was serving out a fine of $25 for threatening with a pistol, Charles Bryant, colored, a railroad porter, is being sought today by the police for pointing a pistol at Ida Lloyd.

Patrolman John Hession heard the woman's scream and caught Bryant as he was running from her house on Twelfth street between Harrison and Madison streets shortly after noon. The negro wrenched himself free and escaped. The officer, not knowing the gravity of Bryant's offense, did not shoot. The woman accompanied the patrolman to Magistrate Emery's court and swore out a warrant.

She said Bryant had threatened to kill her. Last Sunday he got in a fight with Tom Coles about Ida and pointed a revolver at Tom. He was fined $25 for his offense, and Tuesday Ida married Ernest Boyd, for protection against Bryant, she said.

That same day Bryant was released on payment of his fine. This afternoon he went to Ida's house and breaching in the door, according to her, wrenched the revolver, she had picked up, from her hand, and pointed it at her.

She screamed and Patrolman Hession came to her rescue.

en County, but Committee Will Decide.

No date has been set, but the executive committee probably will be called together in a short time to make preparations.

The state now appropriates $33,000 annually for conducting these institutes and agricultural experts are sent by the state to attend the institutes and address the farmers on matters of interest to their work.

This county is trying to get the state institute and the success of the county organization will have considerable weight in determining the question of bringing the big meeting to Paducah.

"Pa" Frank Bell left Paducah last night with one game out of three to his credit. The trick was turned yesterday afternoon at Wallace park after the heavy rains when the Indians were in no shape to play ball, appearing to be slow on their feet and with little energy.

"Chief" Lloyd became ill and Perry was substituted after Lloyd had made a bad error. Perry made one good play, assisted by Wetzel, but the game went slow from the beginning. The game was stopped in the eighth inning by rain, but was an easy victory for the Belites from the start.

Platt was in the box for the locals and was out of form. He was hit with ease and a total of nine bingles was tabbed against him. Scores were made in the sixth and eighth innings and in both innings errors killed the visitors' chance of earning a run.

In the sixth inning Copeland doubled and Berte made first on Haas' error. Hackett went to first on Platt's error and Hughes grounded out. Lutzshaw doubled and Copeland and Berte scored. Hagel struck out and Brown retired the side with a grounder to Quigley to Haas. Two runs.

In the eighth inning Berte singled and Hackett made first on Cooper's error. Hughes tried to bunt the third strike and made out. Lutzshaw's hit to Cooper was fielded to Quigley, forcing Hackett out at second. Hagel walked and Brown hit to Lloyd. Lloyd dropped the fly, scoring Berte. Hughes and Lutzshaw. Bell singled, scoring Brown. Patrick retired the side with a flyout to Taylor. Four runs.

In the ninth inning the visitors started hitting but rain stopped the game after one had been retired.

Dope.
Even the best pitchers have an off day, and it happened to be Platt's yesterday. The big southpaw was easily found by the Belites but had been properly supported he might have won his game.

Taylor, Cooper and Platt were the only Indians able to connect with Patrick yesterday. Patrick is the man Calro turned loose. "Pa" Frank Bell thinks he has a good twirler in him. Today is Ladies' Day and the Danville team is here to meet the Indians for three games. Following Danville will come Vincennes and then Calro. There are nine more days of ball here this "at home."

Attendance at the Wallace park ball grounds continues to be bad and the management is greatly discouraged.

Grover Land seems to be a letter writer. He writes every chance he gets, and it is said that not a week passes but what some Paducah friend gets a letter from the Big Man. He writes when he does not play ball—that is, this is what Platt alleges. Judging from the number of letters he has been sending here this is not far from a "sure shot."

Land is injured now, however, and is out of the game with a bad leg. He will stick it out, but hopes that Manager Grillo will let him off in time to come to the old "stamping" ground and catch a game or two for the Indians.

Good Story.

The following story is going the rounds of Gen. von Budd, one time minister of the German railway. He was in the habit of occasionally seeing personally that all the rules were carried out. One day he was in a first-class carriage when a gentleman entered and calmly lighted a cigar. The general waited for some time and then touching him on the arm pointed out that the rules did not permit of smoking in non-smoking cars. The gentleman looked at him a moment and then making a motion as though brushing away a fly, went on without speaking. Von Budd decided to make a grand coup, so he took out his card case and handed his card to his fellow traveler, who gave it a glance and put it in his pocket, went on smoking and at the next station descended. The minister, much irritated, decided to give him a lesson, so told the station people to find out his name as he had a complaint to make against him. The gentleman, asked for his name, put his hand in his pocket and presented a card at which the station master bowed profoundly and allowed him to leave the station. Then returning to Von Budd, he said: "You had better keep your complaint to yourself; look, his card says he is Gen. von Budd!" —Il Motto per Ridere.

Negroes on the Canal.

It will be impossible to drop the negroes entirely, but it is the view of Chairman Shonta and the other members of the canal commission that it is unsafe to depend on negro labor which has been found so unsatisfactory; and efforts will be made to recruit the forces of workers from other sources, especially from white countries. The experience at Panama is but another argument in favor of white immigration to the south. White immigrants can work as well here as in any other part of the country, if not better; and we can feel confident that their labor will return better results. The old theory that the white man is not able to do good work in the south has been thoroughly exploded, not only of the southern states of the union, but even of the Latin-American republics of the tropics.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Economy of a Straight Line

The National Cigar Stands Company is an easy, uninterrupted, straight-line channel between tobacco planter and cigar smoker.

The tobacco makes only one stop on the way—at the factory where it is turned into cigars. It pays only one small fare for the whole trip.

It used to go in a roundabout way, from planter to leaf-broker, from broker to cigar-maker, from cigar-maker to cigar-jobber, from cigar-jobber to retailer, from retailer to you. It paid a fare—that is, another profit—at every stage.

The National Cigar Stands' plan saves four stages and four fares. That is why the cigars sold by them give

HIGH SCHOOLS IN KENTUCKY SCARCE

University Man Visits Every Section of State.

Outside of Cities Few Facilities for Higher Education Are Afforded.

INSPECTED PADUCAH SYSTEM.

Dr. George H. Ramsey, who returned to Lexington recently from a tour of the state in the interest of Central University, made particular observations while away on the Kentucky High school system, and the imperious given to education by the educational conference. Dr. Ramsey went over the western section of the state, then to Paducah, Bowling Green, Ashland and other important towns.

He says it is manifest that the prosperity of the state is high, owing to the splendid crops of this season. Besides, the people evince their prosperity by their general air of optimism and self-confidence.

"From the standpoint of a pedagogical," says Dr. Ramsey, "the lack of high school facilities in the state is lamentable. Outside of the large towns there are hardly six schools which deserve the appellation of high; that is, which fit a student and sharpen his taste for higher education.

"There should be at least 200 institutions of this type. Until Kentucky has them, she can never expect an increase in attendance upon her colleges. Wherever colleges flourish so do high schools; the welfare of the one is wrapped inseparably with the welfare of the other.

"The University of Michigan with its 4,000 students would be impossible without the efficient system of high schools which is established in that state.

"The average high school in Kentucky has a deleterious effect upon the mind of its students in so much that it is usually a professed end not a means to an end. The ideal high school will create a zest for more learning; but will not allow the student to feel satisfied that he has traveled the whole compass of it."

Dr. Ramsey then spoke upon the attitude of the people towards education and how the educational conference held in Lexington had improved it.

A BOND ELECTION FOR CITY PARKS

Aldermen Follow Councilmen In Voting For It.

Street Work and License Petitions Occupy Much Time of Upper Board.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP IS UP.

The board of aldermen last night voted to submit the matter of issuing $100,000 bonds for building public parks to the people at the next November election, and appropriated $1,000 for planning Lang park in good condition. The matter of permitting a vote on municipal ownership was deferred until a full board is present.

The greater part of the board's work was routine. Aldermen Hubbard and Palmer were absent.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted.

Mayor Yelzer presented a prayer from Mr. M. Gilbert, asking for a refund of a milk dealer's license.

The suit of Marlon Lander against the city was referred.

A proposition from W. F. Bradshaw to dedicate property for pavements on Broadway was referred.

The resignation of Race Dipple, councilman, and appointments of Lou Randall, his successor, were reported to the board.

Mayor Yelzer suggested the matter of placing the park bond issue before the people; also the employment of an assistant to City Engineer L. A. Washington; also to place the matter of municipal ownership of light and water plants before the people at the November election.

The matter of the employment of an assistant to the city engineer seemed the most important matter, and Mayor Yelzer suggested that an engineer be employed at once, that the matter be referred to the finance committee "with power to act." This seemed to be favorable and was unanimously adopted. The instruments are already here, and an motion was referred to the finance committee with power to act, which means that an engineer will be employed as soon as possible.

The matter of placing municipal ownership before the city was brought up. Alderman Bell thought there was no necessity to vote when a full board was not present. Alderman Farley stated that he saw no necessity of such a petition, because the board was not fully represented.

Alderman Miller suggested that the light and water matter be separated for a vote. Mayor Yelzer stated that he intended it this way.

Alderman Miller moved that a vote be taken to bring in an ordinance on each matter separately; that the board give the people power to vote for an electric light and water plant, separately.

Alderman Bell made two motions to permit the people to vote on both questions separately. Lost. On motion the matter was deferred until a full meeting of the board can be had.

Mayor Yelzer asked that $1,000 be appropriated to place Lang Park in good condition.

Alderman Kolb stated that the city had already expended too much money out of the contingent fund. On motion the $1,000 was appropriated.

On motion the committee was ordered to bring in an ordinance to pay South Sixth street from Tennessee street to Norton street.

The Cumberland Telephone company was ordered to remove telephone poles from Floyd street near Sixth street.

Park Bond Issue.

The question of permitting the people to vote for a $100,000 bond issue for parks, was favorably acted on.

The city collector was ordered to take charge of the city back tax books and institute suit for collection of back taxes.

City License Inspector George Lehnhard was granted a ten days' vacation.

The committee was ordered to draft an ordinance for a "driver" for the fire engine at station house No. 2.

The matter of a contract with the Traction company to extend the Broadway "Cross creek" culvert, and to fill in low ground, prior to building the tracks to Nineteenth street, and thence on Nineteenth street to the Mayfield road, was referred to the city engineer.

The finance committee's report showing a total of $25,428.47 for bills and salaries was filed.

The auditor's report for July showing a total of $99,688.47 at the close of the month, was filed.

Ordinances.

An ordinance for sidewalks, curbs and gutters on Fountain avenue from Jefferson street to Monroe street was given first passage.

An ordinance prohibiting dry wells within the sewerage district, was given first reading.

An ordinance for sidewalks on First street from Washington street to Broadway, was given first reading.

An ordinance for storm water sewers and paving on Second street from Washington street to Kentucky avenue, first reading.

An ordinance for sidewalks on Second street from Kentucky avenue to Washington street was given first reading.

Licenses.

William Bates withdrew his application for a coffee house license at 1043 Kentucky avenue.

Oscar Denker, at 1043 Kentucky avenue, was granted a coffee house license.

J. Moore Whitaker was granted a coffee house license at the Illinois Central hotel at the I. C. depot.

J. R. Morris was granted a coffee house license at 100 Broadway.

Thomas Whitlow, at 300 South Ninth street, was granted a coffee house license.

A gallon and quart liquor license to M. J. Friedman was refused.

George Denker, at 741 Harrison street, asked for a liquor license. The petition was accompanied by a protest. The board allowed the license.

It was ordered that M. J. Friedman be refunded money deposited for a liquor license.

The railroad committee reported that the matter of street railway fares and street crossing watchmen was constructed to be within the province of the mayor for remedying. The mayor was instructed to see that no more school children are made to pay full fare.

Petitions for refunding two hucksters licenses were presented. The collector stated that the council could not legally return licenses paid under a valid ordinance even if the ordinance had been repealed. The petitions were turned down.

Several deeds and transfers to lots in Oak Grove cemetery were referred.

The collector was ordered to carefully investigate costs in the Worthen suits against the city, also to carefully look after the collection of back taxes.

The finance committee recommended $200 to be appropriated for open air concerts on the streets during the remainder of the season. The motion to make the appropriation was lost.

Chief James Wood, of the fire department, was authorized to employ a farm hand at $20 a month to care for the old pest house property. This is where the city places horses for pasture. The chief is also raising a big crop of corn.

On motion the board adjourned.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

To Examine Owen's Books.

Owenton, Ky. August 10.—Called to Owenton to continue an investigation of the affairs of the county officials for the last 12 years, and especially to investigate the charge that the sheriffs of the county have repeatedly failed to assess a varying portion of the property-holders each year, and have failed to make any return either to the county or state of the taxes collected from such persons, Henry B. Hines, state inspector, has reached Owenton. He probably will make an examination of the books of the sheriffs for the last 12 years, and Sam Hines, his assistant, will continue the work.

Beattyville, Ky., August 10.—Feudal warfare was brewing last night, and, while no blood was shed, members of the Hargis and anti-Hargis factions were gunning for each other and Sheriff James P. Sizemore and Jailer L. Spicer gathered in three ugly looking forty-fives when they stepped between the parties. The Hargis faction was composed of Doug Hays, Seiden Hargis and one or two others, while the other side was represented by Tom Cockrill and A. S. Johnson.

Big Tobacco Warehouse. Lexington, Ky. August 10.—John H. Hutchings, an architect of Louisville, has completed the plans and specifications for the mammoth warehouse of the American Tobacco company which is to be erected on East Seventh street in this city. The plans and specifications call for a two-story brick structure with a frontage of 422 feet and a depth of 150 feet. It will be by great odds the largest building in Lexington.

Tampering With Mail. Cincinnati, O., August 10.—A hunt for the person who has been opening and tampering with registered letters sent to the northeastern corner of Kentucky resulted this afternoon in the arrest of Postmaster R. P. Sausberry at Sausberry, Ky. The office there is a central point for star route mail for several of the mountain counties.

For a Joint Debate. Louisville, August 10.—Friends of Judge S. W. Hager, who were in the city from Frankfort yesterday, stated that Judge Hager within the next week or ten days would challenge to a series of joint debates the Hon. N. B. Hays, his opponent in the present exciting contest for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Councilmen Barred. Owensboro, August 10.—Members of the city council must not sell merchandise or supplies of any kind to the city, says the Owensboro Messenger. This is the substance of a letter, accompanied by an excerpt from an opinion by City Attorney Jolly, mailed to the members of the council yesterday.

Daily Thought.

"Personalities in writing and speaking are not a sign of either courage or discernment."

TEN YEARS WITH RAILROADS.

In considering "changed conditions" Mr. Bryan must face figures of a character more astounding than those relating to gold production.

Let him turn for instance to the earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad. In 1896 the Pennsylvania railroad earnings—east of Pittsburgh and Erie—for six months, ending June 30, were $30,505,275.

For the same period in the same territory the earnings in 1906 were $70,236,676.

In June, 1896 the earnings of the Pennsylvania in the described territory were $5,305,599. In June of this memorable year of 1906 they were $12,420,450.

These figures suffice for the whole country. They present in a comprehensive form the vast strides the country has made, and they prove the wonderful activity of the American people at this time.

Nothing measures like railroad earnings the industrial employment of the American people. Certainly the record of the past ten years surpassed anything Mr. Bryan promised us from free silver in 1896.—Louisville Post.

On Wednesday the Peters Shoe company, of St. Louis, entertained all its traveling salesmen with an automobile trip around the city, visiting the manufacturing, wholesale and retail districts, the residence section and the parks. The object of all this expense and trouble was to give the traveling salesmen a good opinion and general knowledge of St. Louis. The officers of the company realized that their salesmen, representing a St. Louis house, will talk more or less about the city. They wished the men to know something about the city and form a good impression of it, so that on their trips they will spread the gospel of St. Louis' progress over the land. If the good word of one or a score of traveling men is worth that expense and trouble to a city the size of St. Louis, what would it be worth to Paducah in her efforts to build up a population of 50,000? It is the spirit of men like the officers of the Peters Shoe company, that has made St. Louis the city she is, and will gain for her a million inhabitants in a few years. The Commercial club of Paducah in the exercise of its proper functions constantly is evolving new schemes by which merchants can advertise the city without trouble or expense. Let the business man give heed to the incident of the Peters Shoe company and do something for Paducah. It will come back to him multiplied like bread upon the water. It will make of him an up-to-date merchant and of Paducah an up-to-date city.

It is gratifying to all Paducahans to observe the activity among the local men seeking the Democratic nomination for congress in the First district in the event Ollie James determines to run for governor. We only hope that the multiplicity of candidates will not result in hopelessly weakening the strength of this county in the race. It would be much to the advantage of Paducah to have a representative in congress. These congressmen generally look after the interests of the constituency that means most to them before the primary, and as political strength as well as charity begins at home, Paducah might be accorded some needed attention in the way of public building with a Paducah man in Washington.

NATURAL DEDUCTION.

Virginia: "We were at one time, but are not now."
Gladys: "Ah, I see. What's the young man's name?"

Ollie James explodes a great deal of rumor in his Louisville interview. He said he has not been approached by emissaries of the state administration. Much of the talk about his candidacy has come from sources that lend it no color of suspicion of a desire to get him out of the way in the First district. Astute politicians have repeatedly pointed out the facts that Ollie James would consult his personal and political friends in the First district before announcing his candidacy for governor, and that none of these has yet spoken his name in connection with the race. But, just the same, "Our Ollie" looks like a man riding a dark horse.

Reports from Breathitt county convey the information that bloodshed was narrowly averted in a clash between Hargis and anti-Hargis men. The name of Judge Jim Hargis does not appear among those present.

With Jefferson street blocked, Kentucky avenue—aculde sac at best—not all finished, and one side of Broadway impassable to vehicles, Paducah streets present traffic features sufficient to induce talk of a subway.

Scientists, who herald the "Peek-a-boo bug" as a discovery, may learn that it is only the famous kissing bug exploiting an unexpected capacity for embracing new opportunities.

Now, for the honor of the company, let some romantic hero of modern commercial life, make the noble sacrifice and go to jail for the Standard Oil trust in Chicago.

And, now that the general council has called the election on the park board issue, let's not forget to vote on the question.

A Pittsburg woman has been sued for $300,000 by a doctor, who saved her life. Living is high in Pittsburg.

If "The Jungle" proves a stage success, somebody might dramatize Bradshaw creek.

THE DIRECT VOTE.

Texas is the latest state to abandon the indirect for the direct method of choosing United States senators. The primary election law passed by the legislature in 1905 had its first trial on Saturday, and besides naming candidates for state offices the Democratic voters of Texas practically instructed the next legislature to re-elect Senator Joseph W. Bailey. The new law provides that only the majority party shall make popular nominations, the minority parties being left free to follow the delegate convention method. But Texas is so overwhelmingly Democratic that the exception in favor of the minority organizations is unimportant. It can be taken for granted that the next legislature will be Democratic, and the Democratic majority in the two branches will be bound to ratify a choice for senator made at the polls. Texas thus joins the group of states in which the constitutional power of legislatures to choose senators is being nullified as effectively as the constitutional power of the electoral college to choose a president and vice-president is now nullified the country over.

This nullification has been pretty generally effected through the south, where conditions prompted the spread of the primary system as a useful device for settling all political questions within the white Democratic household. Senators are now named by the voters in Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky. In Maryland there is a vigorous agitation afoot for the adoption of the direct method, and the next legislature is likely to sanction the experiment. But outside the south the idea is also spreading. Oregon has gone so far as to instruct the legislature to choose the senatorial candidate having the larger popular vote at a general election, even though he may belong to the party actually in the minority in the legislature. In Illinois the primary system extends to senatorial nominations, and Wisconsin has popularized, or is on the point of popularizing, senatorial elections. In states like Minnesota and Pennsylvania the delegate convention and legislative caucus have not been entirely discarded, but the drift is plainly in that direction. More power is being naked for the individual voter at the cost of a diminished role for the political manager and manipulator.

We do not accept the theory that good government can be obtained by the mere substitution of one piece of political machinery for another. If the voters want purer politics and better administration they can get them under the delegate convention plan as well as through the agency of the popular primary. Yet there is a simplicity and finality about the method of direct nomination which must be conceded. The state of Iowa is just now in the throes of a bitter contest between two republican factions. Delegates have been chosen to a state convention, which meets today, and though the fight has raged for months no one can say definitely which faction has won. The seats of several hundred delegates are contested, and neither side will admit that the other has a majority of the Republican voters behind it. There are no positive and convincing data on which to base an opinion, and no means exist for determining the lawful will of the minority. A state primary, conducted under all the safeguards of a regular election, would at least have shown how the Republican voters were divided and would have established by plain fact evidence which faction was in the majority and which in the minority. But the windings and intricacies of the delegate convention system have made it possible to force a deadlock, in which personal ambition and enmities will play a larger part than true regard for party union and party welfare. Situations like that in Iowa have had much to do with spreading the popularity of the direct primary method.—New York Tribune.

CROQUET AND QUARREL.

Collier's for August 4 brings forth some thoughtful reflections on the merits and influence of the game of croquet. It says:

A serious attack upon our praise of croquet and its revival comes from the town of Akron, O. Two gross defects concludes the critic, mar the game. "In my long and varied experience," says he, "I have found no game equal to croquet in breeding petty animosity, and even hatred. One opponent is privileged to interfere with the well-laid plans of another when simple courtesy would allow the ball to lie in its favorable position. Then there are no settled rules, and therefore much unnecessary hard feeling. In pushing this game to the front, therefore, you have assumed a tremendous responsibility, and to my mind the only way is for you to promulgate a set of authoritative and elaborate set of rules and preach whatever joy may exist in the theory of retaliation." The responsibility, were it needed, would be jauntily assumed, but the rules have in recent years become more distinctly established, and tournaments are not only frequent occurrences in Great Britain, but draw large crowds. As to the other point, the person whose moral balance is permanently and hopelessly upset by croquet would be unlikely to become under any circumstances much of a shining beacon for the population. In the young this game starts the temper, but, on the whole, like life itself, exercises the character without overstraining it, and "this world is a place not of rest but of discipline." Disraeli said of Wellington that it was his sublime self-control alone that regulated his lofty fate. Wellington received his discipline amid the roar and smoke of war, but may not others become Wellingtons by the assiduous cultivation of croquet?

GROWTH OF EXPORTS.

The foreign commerce of the United States has grown much more rapidly during the last decade than its population. Completed figures of the fiscal year 1906, just presented by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, show that while the population has grown since 1896 but 20 per cent, imports have grown 57 per cent and exports 109 per cent. The classes of imports which show the greatest gains are manufactures and manufacturers' materials. Manufactures imported show an increase of 42 per cent, and manufacturers' materials imported show an increase of 95 per cent. On the export side agricultural products and manufactures show the largest gains. Agricultural products exported show an increase during the decade of 70 per cent, and manufactures an increase of 163 per cent.

This increase has occurred in the trade with all of the grand divisions of the world, but is especially marked in the trade with Asia and Oceania.

Cincinnati	9.0	0.0	std
Evansville	7.0	0.1	fall
Florence	4.7	0.2	fall

Davis Island Dam	9.2	3.2	rise
St. Louis	10.4	0.1	rise
Mt. Vernon—Missing.
Paducah	8.5	0.5	fall

A half foot fall was registered by the gauge at the foot of Broadway this morning for the last 24 hours. It showed a stage of 8.5. Threatening weather. Business at the wharf good.

The Peters Lee was left off the ways at Mound City yesterday and left for Memphis.

The Dick Fowler left on time this morning for Calo and way points, with a fair trip.

The City of Safford passed up from St. Louis this morning at 6 o'clock on the up trip to the Tennessee river.

The John S. Hopkins was 8 hours late arriving yesterday. The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packet today.

The Kentucky arrived early this morning with a big freight business of tobacco, lumber and 650 sacks of peanuts.

Simn (Albert, colored fireman on Ohio river boats, has discovered a process by which boilers can be cleaned without going inside of them. He has applied for a patent for the same.—Courier-Journal.

The Bob Dudley is so high out of the water since the hull was repaired that the wheel barely dips the water. Removing the water-soaked rotting timber and placing the new timber on the hull made the difference in draft.

Joe St. John received orders to report to Nashville yesterday to take up his duties as boiler inspector for the government. He and Charles T. Greenwood, of Greenville, Miss. secured the positions vacated by J. J. Dunn and W. J. Macdonald, over a large competitive field. The position is a life one on good behavior and pays a salary of $125 a month.

The Natchez was let down to the water last night. It is thought that the stage of the river may be sufficiently high to enable the Natchez to finish repairs here. One new smoke stack is up and the other will go up today. Fowler-Wolfe are furnishing the smoke stacks, which rise 58 feet from the water line and weigh four tons. If the river was much higher than at present the Natchez could not get under the Calo bridge. Should the river get too low the Natchez will complete repairs at some Mississippi river point, probably Calo.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio from Evansville to Calo will remain practically stationary during the next 24 to 36 hours.

The Tennessee from Florence to below Johnsonville will continue falling during the next 24 hours.

The Mississippi from below St. Louis to slightly above Calo will fall during the next 36 hours.

Mr. Will Wylie, of Mayfield, is visiting his mother, Mrs. John Buchanan who is ill.

Peek-a-Boo Bug is Getting Busy
With Social Affairs in the East

Ansonia, Conn., August 10.—The "peek-a-boo bug" has made its appearance in this city and neighborhood. This does not mean that the fashion of wearing peek-a-boo whists has just reached here; that came the first time the mercury climbed high on the thermometer. The "peek-a-boo bug" is an insect, not a fad. The young women of Ansonia have given the bug its name because it delights to feed on the many ones of pink flesh that dot the deserts of peek-a-boo waists and open-work stockings. The bug is as voracious as ill-mannered. It has already interrupted three proposals of marriage. Just when the lovely young woman was about to murmur "yes," she shrieked "Ouch!" and tried to grab her shoulder-blade or her ankle-bone. Physicians have treated many young women whom the peek-a-boo bug has bitten. All the doctors can do is to prescribe soothing lotions, and oftentimes they have prescribed in the dark, so to speak. The doctors have not been able to classify the peek-a-boo bug, yet they give it a scientific name. Said a prominent physician this morning: "I have seen many bites by this new bug; many other bites I have not seen, but prescribed for. The insect looks like an ordinary house fly, but isn't. The virus it deposits is very poisonous. The swelling that follows its bite is great and does not yield to treatment quickly. The flesh around the bite becomes hard and the skin leathery but painful."

Hot Days Beneficial.

It is strange we never stop to realize that the hot days are good for us. They are tho', just as they are good for crops. Nature sends the hot days to give us a good "sweating" if the use of the vulgar word is permissible for in this way it eliminates some of the poisons from our systems. If we would get out of doors, instead of sitting in the shady nooks, and take two or three hours in the open air with the "boiling sun" boiling us right we would feel lots better, and be lots better.

This is a correct theory, and is the theory that prompted the invention of the hot-air treatments and giving with such success in my practice. When used in connection with Osteopathy it is a specific for the ailments that give us Paducahans the most trouble, malaria, chills and fever and biliousness, and it can in just a few minutes show anyone suffering of these ailments why they yield so readily to the treatment. I can refer you to people you know who will attest to my statements.

If you feel drowsy, and tired; feel like you had a taut band around your head which was being drawn closer all the time; if you are suffering of indigestion or any form, a course of Osteopathic and dry hot-air treatments will bring a quick cure, and do so without the aid of anything but aids to Nature.

My office hours are from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 5, Dr. G. B. Froag, 518 Broadway, Phone 1407.

GOOSE ORDINANCE IS BADLY NEEDED

In Opinion of Housewives in

Over Five Hundred Fowls Sold to Be

A COUNCILMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

At last the goose is to receive that public recognition its peculiar accomplishments and attributes merit, and the general council at its next session will adopt measures defining such offenses as breach of the peace, disorderly conduct and trespass as committed by this toothsome but aggravating bird.

Long talking and holier-than-thou conduct on the part of geese, especially in the outskirts of Paducah and particularly trying since the fowls have been torn down, have been the topic of constant complaints to the authorities, but neither the stock law nor the misdemeanor ordinances seem to cover the case of geese. So the general council, through the individual members has been appealed to by housewives to put the ban on the fowls running at large.

On Sunday a councilman was hailed by a woman, then engaged in "shooing" a flock of gabbling birds out of the yard.

As she ceased her efforts to talk, the goose also ceased and listened. She asked the councilman why he didn't pass a goose ordinance, but just as he raised his hat and attempted a reply the goose commenced to gobble again and every time after when he lifted his voice they drowned out his words.

At last he drove away without making himself understood, but it was a mistake on the part of the geese. An ordinance will be introduced at the next meeting of the lower board prohibiting geese from running at large. It is complained that besides the nuisance of their conversation, they kill the lawns wherever they graze. There are, perhaps, 500 geese running at large in Paducah.

STRING AND KEY.

Found in Fat Looking Pocket-Book on Railroad.

Mr. William Little, of the Illinois Central shops, does not consider himself lucky, and this morning is sure that he will never stumble upon a fortune by keeping his eyes on the ground.

He was coming to work and saw a fat pocket-book lying near the railroad tracks. He thought he had made a "find" and making a dive for the object succeeded in getting it before others in the party could pick it up.

Little withdrew to one side and opened his treasure. He found instead of being tightly packed with bills as his imagination had pictured it a nickel, value key and a lot of string. It was probably dropped by some eighth of August visitor who had no further use for a wallet.

Six rural mail carriers working out of the Paducah postoffice are affected by the order recently sent out from Washington giving all rural carriers a fifteen days' vacation with full pay.

City carriers have been getting vacations for years. There have been many new rural routes created all over the country, and in recognition of the hard work the men have to do, the government gave them vacations. The order is effective from July 1 but so far no Paducah carrier has asked for the vacation.

Government Men Take Soundings

Their Course.

CONVENTION NEXT NOVEMBER

It has been over a year since the Queen City, one of the finest boats ever on the river, carried the Congressional committee down the Ohio river. The Queen City landed at Smithland and a large crowd greeted her with cheers and the booming of cannon. At that time the people of the county had in mind the improvement of the river and it was general talk. Since that time, they have almost forgotten about it, says the Livingston Banner.

Last week a small tow-boat, the Wave Rock, towed into the port at Smithland two "quarter-boats" bearing a party of civil engineers employed by the government and by authority of congress under an act appropriating $150,000 to make a survey of the river, looking toward the "nine foot stage." The party is in charge of S. F. Creel, chief engineer, with P. I. Louckes, assistant, and Charles F. McKee, chief clerk. Of the Wave Rock Capt. D. J. Kane is pilot and master, and James Phillips engineer. Capt. Kane lives in Louisville and was born in Frankfort, but with all that, is a fine fellow.

There are 54 men in the crew, including cooks, watchmen and skippers, and the work of the party is to make an exact survey and plat of the river and they make only about two miles a day. The base level and "V" level is established, and soundings made every six hundred yards down the stream and every 40 yards across and all these soundings are recorded and will be reported to the proper authority when complete and an accurate map made. A mile-post is planted every mile down the river, but the peculiar part of it is they are covered with several feet of earth so that it will take a surveyor with the field notes of this survey to find one after the surface marks have disappeared.

There will be a convention to formulate plans for pushing this matter before the next congress, November 15, in St. Louis, after the survey has been made and just before congress convenes. The engineer in charge of the survey will make recommendations for certain locks and dams in the river to make nine feet of water from Pittsburg to Cairo and congress will be asked to make appropriations to do the work. The outlook now is quite favorable for the "nine foot stage," and the people of this section hope it will come.

The Manager Of the B. & A.

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1901, by Harper & Brothers

"Well, I am getting some work for them, and while there isn't much profit in it, perhaps, it's a great deal better than being idle."

"Just a whole lot," agreed McClintock.

"I think I can pick up contracts enough to keep us busy through the summer, I understand you're always had to shut down."

"Yes, or half time," disagreed.

"I guess we can worry through without that; at any rate, I want to," observed Oakley.

"I'll go see how I can manage about our own repairs," said McClintock. He went out, and from the window Oakley saw him with a bunch of keys in his hand going in the direction of a line of battered old coaches on one of the sidings. The door opened again almost immediately to admit Cliff Ryder. This was almost the last person in Antioch from whom Dan was expecting a call. The editor's cordiality as he greeted him made him instantly suspect that some favor was wanted. Most people who came to the office wanted favors. Usually it was either a pass or a concession on freight.

As a rule, Kerr met all such applicants. His manner fitted him for just such interviews, and he had no gift for popularity, which suffered in consequence.

Ryder pushed a chair over beside Oakley's and seated himself. By sitting well down on his spine he managed to reach the low sill of the window with his feet. He seemed to admire the effect, for he studied them in silence for a moment.

"There's a little matter I want to speak to you about, Oakley. I've been intending to run in for the past week, but I have been so busy I couldn't."

Oakley nodded for him to go on.

"In the first place, I'd like to feel that you were for Kenyon. You can be of a great deal of use to us in this election. It's going to be close, and Kenyon's a pretty decent sort of a chap to have come out of those parts. You ought to take an interest in seeing him re-elected."

Oakley grunted that this was the most flattery intended to tickle his vanity. He answered promptly that he didn't feel the slightest interest in politics one way or the other.

"Well, but one good fellow ought to wish to see another good fellow get what he's after, and you can help us if you've a mind to. But this isn't what I've come for. It's about Hoadley."

"What about Hoadley?" quickly.

"He's got the idea that his days with the Huckleberry are about numbered. I haven't said so."

"I know you haven't."

"Then what is he kicking about? When he's to go he'll hear of it from me."

"But, just the same, it's in the air that there's to be a shakeup and that a number of men, and Hoadley among them, are going to be laid off. Now, he's a mother good fellow, and he's a friend of mine, and I told him I'd come in and fix it up with you."

"I don't think you can fix it up with me, Mr. Ryder. Just the same, I'd like to know how this got out."

"Then there is to be a shakeup?" Oakley bit his lips. "You seem to take it for granted there is to be."

"I guess there's something back of the rumor."

"I may as well tell you why Hoadley's got to go."

"Oh, he's to go then? I thought my information was correct."

"In the first place he's not needed, and in the second place he's a lazy loafer. The road must earn its keep. General Cornish is sick of putting his hand in his pocket every six months to keep it out of bankruptcy. You are enough of a business man to know he won't stand that sort of thing forever. Of course I am sorry for Hoadley if he needs the money, but some one's got to suffer, and he happens to be the one. I'll take on his work myself. I can do it, and that's a salary saved. I haven't any personal feeling in the matter. The fact that I don't like him, as it happens, has nothing to do with it. If he were my own brother he'd have to get out."

"I can't see that one man more or less is going to make such a difference, Oakley," Ryder urged, with what he intended should be an air of frank good fellowship.

"Can't you?" with chilly dignity. Oakley was slow to anger, but he had always fought stubbornly for what he felt was due him, and he wished the editor to understand that the management of the B. & A. was distinctly not his province.

Ryder's eyes were half closed, and only a narrow slit of color showed between the lids.

"I am very much afraid we won't hit it off. I begin to see we aren't going to get on. I want you to keep Hoadley as a personal favor to me. Just wait until I finish. If you are going in for reform I may have it in my power to be of some service to you. You will need some backing here, and even a country newspaper can manufacture public sentiment. Now if we aren't to be friends you will find me on the other side and working just as hard against you as I am willing to work for you if you let Hoadley stay."

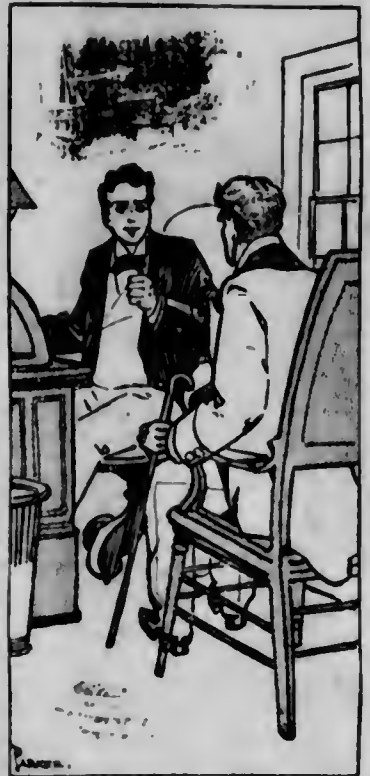

Oakley jumped up.

"I don't allow anybody to talk like that to me, I am ruining this for Cornish. They are his interests, not mine, and you can start in and manufacture all the public sentiment you please." Then he cooled down a bit and felt ashamed of himself for the outburst.

"I am not going to be unfair to any one if I can help it. But if the road's earnings don't meet the operating expenses the general will sell it to the M. and W. Do you understand what that means? It will knock Antioch higher than a kite, for the shops will be closed. I guess when all hands get that through their heads they will take it easier."

"That's just the point I made. Who is going to enlighten them if it isn't me? I don't suppose you will care to go around telling everybody what a fine fellow you are and how thankful they should be that you have stopped their wages. We can work double, Oakley. I want Hoadley kept because he's promised me his influence for Kenyon if I'd exert myself in his behalf. He's of importance up at the Junction. Of course we know he's a drunken twat, but that's got nothing to do with it."

"In the second place he's a lazy loafer."

"I am sorry, but he's got to go," said Oakley doggedly. "A one horse railroad can't carry dead timber."

"Very well," And Ryder pulled in his legs and rose slowly from his chair. "If you can't and won't see it as I do it's your lookout."

Oakley laughed shortly.

"I guess I'll be able to meet the situation, Mr. Ryder."

He scouted the idea that Ryder with his little country newspaper could either help or harm him.

CHAPTER VII.

D. H. EMORY and Dan were standing on the street corner before the hotel. Oakley had just come uptown from the office. He was full of awkward excuses and apologies, but Mr. Emory cut them short.

"I suppose I've a right to be angry at the way you've avoided us, but I'm not. On the contrary, I'm going to take you home to dinner with me."

If Dan had consulted his preferences in the matter, he would have begged off, but he felt he couldn't without giving offense, so he allowed the doctor to lead him away, but he didn't appear as pleased or as grateful as he should have been at this temporary release from the low diet of the American House.

Miss Emory was waiting for her father on the porch. An errand of hers had taken him downtown.

She seemed surprised to see Oakley, but was graciously disposed toward him. While he felt short of her standards, he was decidedly superior to the local youth with whom she had at first been inclined to class him. Truth to tell, the local youth fought rather shy of the doctor's beautiful daughter. Mr. Burr Smith, the gentlemanly druggist and acknowledged social leader, who was much sought after by the most exclusive circles in such centers of fashion as Lockport and Harrison, had been so chilled by her manner when, meeting her on the street, he had attempted to revive an acquaintance which dated back to their childhood that he was a mental wreck for days afterward and had hardly dared trust himself to fill even the simplest prescription.

Dr. Emory excused himself and went into the house. Dan made himself comfortable on the steps at Miss Emory's side. In the very nervousness there was something luxurious and satisfying. He was silent, because he feared the antagonism of speech.

"I was with friends of yours this afternoon, Mr. Oakley," she said by way of starting the conversation.

"Friends of mine here?"

"Yes, the Joyces."

"I must go around and see them. They have been very kind to my father," said Dan, with hearty good will.

"How long in your father to remain in Antioch, Mr. Oakley?" inquired Constance.

"I don't know."

"I don't allow anybody to talk like that to me, I am ruining this for Cornish. They are his interests, not mine, and you can start in and manufacture all the public sentiment you

BRIGHT WOMEN HELP CHURCHILL

Ethel Barrymore and Richard Harding Davis' Wife.

Ethel Barrymore Promises to Teach the Novelists How to Win Votes in Campaign.

DAVIS TO WRITE PAMPHLETS

To assist Winston Churchill, the popular novelist and acute thinker, in his campaign to win the Republican nomination for governor of New Hampshire, two famous and beautiful women have enthusiastically declared that they are going to do everything in their power, says a Boston letter.

Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, who was Miss Cecile Clark, the beautiful daughter of wealthy John M. Clark, of Chicago, and Miss Ethel Barrymore, the winsome actress, who has climbed to fame by her rare ability on the stage, are ardently in earnest in doing everything in their power to secure for Col. Churchill the coveted nomination.

Richard Harding Davis, the author and war correspondent, who with Melville E. Stone, Jr., called upon Col. Churchill, told him of the two invaluable and beautiful assistants he was to have in the great fight he is making.

And it was no idle promise at that. Mrs. Davis, who won fame in letters, in addition to that of her great beauty, as a war correspondent during the Boer war, when she accompanied her husband to South Africa, is on the scene in person. With her husband, Mr. Stone and Mr. Churchill, she took part in a council of war, the first meeting of the Churchill board of strategy and war, and mean for the fight which is now warming up were discussed.

Campaign of Literature. Necessarily, a campaign of literature will result. With an author of renown leading the van, and supported as he is by literature, of note, this must needs be the result. New Hampshire will be flooded with political documents and circulars, written in style and rhetoric unknown to any campaign of the past.

And now for Miss Barrymore's part. Churchill is a good speaker, a clever stump orator, a sober young man, with severe face, who is in deadly earnest in his war on corporation domination of the political machine in his state. But in his speech-making he lacks that fire, that intensity, that dramatic force so necessary to hammer home his great truths.

It is the part of Miss Barrymore, the clever, brilliant actress, to instruct the great author in the art of acting his feelings, to show by his handsome face the emotions of his heart so that every one who hears him will be compelled to feel, to believe, with him whether or no.

Churchill is thoroughly in earnest. His whole great heart and soul are in the cause of the people in which he, as a frontiersman in politics, is blazing the way for future decades. It is the fight of the people by the people and for the people by a man who is a man.

FIRST DOLLAR CONTRIBUTED.

Mississippi Man Sends Contribution to Democratic Campaign.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—The first dollar received as a contribution to the Democratic campaign fund has been passed on a letterhead and hung up in the office of the committee. The dollar came from Judge J. H. Neville, of Gulfport, Miss. Under it appear these words: "He contributed the first dollar to the Democratic congressional committee's campaign fund. He has proved himself a good, loyal Democrat."

Chairman Griggs, of the Democratic congressional committee, does not propose that Chairman Sherman, of the Republican committee, shall have a copyright of the one dollar plan of securing campaign subscriptions. Whether it is or is not because he cannot get larger subscriptions makes little difference. The fact remains, however, that the Democratic committee is arranging to secure as many of these small donations as Democrats can be induced to make.

A circular letter is to be sent out to each of the 30,000 enthusiastic Democrats who will subscribe one dollar each to the first Bryan campaign. Every one of these is expected to respond promptly. Then a circular letter is to be sent to 3,500 Democratic newspapers throughout the country, calling upon them to open subscription lists among their subscribers and raise as much of the necessary funds as they can and transmit the same to Washington.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his muscles would soon fail. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is weak the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of a "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Pare, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to be heavy like lead on my stomach. The doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and upon taking the doctor's medicine, she taught me a lesson and we soon found that I began to improve, so I worked up the treatment, took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I was able to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise." "I had been wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior salts for Dr. Pierce's medicine, recommended to be 'just as good.' To gain knowledge of your own body—in sickness and health—send for the 'People's Common Sense Medical Adviser.' A book of 1000 pages. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. J. C. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y."

Theodore Stensland, vice president of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue bank of Chicago, has announced that he will today turn over to the receiver the entire estate of his father, Paul O. Stensland. Should this be done, it is believed depositors will receive almost dollar for dollar. Vice President Stensland appeared in court yesterday afternoon. By agreement the hearing of his case was continued until August 15.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continues to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female life, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and my health was failing, spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions as to what to do, and when commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Thousands of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

CHORUS GIRLS

UNTHINKINGLY CAUSE TRAGEDY OF MADISON SQUARE.

White Sends Note and Flowers to Mrs. Thaw on Afternoon Before the Murder.

New York, Aug. 10.—News of important evidence, providing a plausible motive for the murder of Stanford White, has come into District Attorney Jerome's possession. The inkling of the facts was conveyed to the district attorney indirectly from Florence Ziegfeld, the theatrical manager, who is the husband of Anna Held, and who is at present living in Paris. The story is that Stanford White sent a note and a basket of flowers to Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the afternoon of his murder, and that the tragedy grew out of the thoughtless mischief of three chorus girls.

They paid a farewell visit to Mr. White in the tower of Madison Square Garden the night prior to Mr. White's death. Mr. White was not there and as they were leaving the place the attendant asked what names he should report to Mr. White as those of his visitors.

"Oh," said one of the girls, laughing, "you need only say that Mrs. Harry Thaw called."

PRISONERS MURDERED.

Two White Men Found in Texas Jail With Skulls Crushed.

Lufkin, Tex., Aug. 10.—H. H. Trawick and Sam Chandler, white men, confined in the Angelina county jail, were murdered last night. The skulls of both were crushed in just above the eyes, and the brains protruded. An earthen cuspidor had been used as a weapon. Both men must have been asleep when killed. John Wilson, held on a minor charge, was confined with the two men. He has made a number of conflicting statements concerning the tragedy, but has not admitted doing it himself, except that in one statement, he said he found the men fighting and separated them. Wilson is charged with murder and is being closely watched.

GRAVE MISMANAGEMENT.

More Than Corruption Causes South African Stores Scandal.

London, Aug. 10.—The war office has issued the report of the royal committee which was appointed to investigate the South African stores scandal. While the report acquits the British commissary officials from the worst charges of corruption, it finds that the losses, equaling about $50,000,000 were due rather to grave mismanagement and incompetency than to fraud.

CIRCUMSTANCES IN POLICE COURT

A Puzzle in Cases Presenting Similar Charges.

One Man Strikes His Wife and Another a Woman Not His Wife—Penalties.

BLIND STREET MUSICIAN UP

One man strikes his wife with a sugar bowl and is fined $100 and the costs. Another strikes a woman, not his wife, and besides the limit fine, is sentenced to 30 days in jail.

This is the judgment of Judge E. H. Puryear in the police court this morning, when M. C. McDowell, a white man, was presented for assaulting his wife, and Andrew Floyd, colored, was presented for bruising the face of Laura White.

The court officials are guessing at the judge's point of view, some holding that the court draws a distinction between the excessive assertion of marital authority, and the abuse of a woman outside the family, while others believe the employment of a sugar bowl as a weapon presents such esthetic conditions it amounts to a mitigating circumstance in the McDowell case.

Drunken Blind Man.

A blind man, carrying a hunk and a terrible "load of booze," and supported by two boys aged 12 and 9 years, was picked up on the streets Thursday night and taken to the police station, where he spent the night, his two little boys waiting until he was discharged this morning at court. The man's name is John Cotman and he plays on the street corners for the charity of passersby. His two boys faithfully looked after him, even when he spent all his money for liquor and left them nothing with which to secure food and lodging. On his promise to behave he was set free.

Other cases were: Terry Malone, cruelty to animals, continued; Matt Miller, breach of ordinance, $10 and costs and suspended; Edward Brown, riding a bicycle on the pavement, dismissed.
